

Trust In Your Prayer

Turn yourself toward your Lord to replenish yourself in his warmth.

He will be your friend and your support in your pains and in your sorrows.

From his love you will draw the strength to find the day again.

And even if you cannot see it,
He will chase away the darkness of despair.
He will help with your cares
and will pull you out of your night.

If you confide in him
He will illuminate your entire life.

He will bring in his light.
Trust in your prayer.

Chase away your tears and your pain
and allow peace to come into your heart.
